SCAEA President

Hello South Carolina Art Educators!

June, 2023

President's Plasma Cutter

Summer is (almost) here! As June begins, I look back on the blur that was May. How do we fit so much into one month at the end of the school year? In addition to all the typical teaching stuff, add in art exhibits, a field trip to Brookgreen Gardens & Columbia Museum of Art, 8th grade dances, awards days (at school and for my own children), a teacher of the year luncheon, and sports banquets, while also preparing for summer institutes and artistically gifted & talented programs. No wonder May flew by.

SCAEA has been super busy too. We hosted our first ED&I mini conference featuring the Anti-Racist Art Teachers. Regional Chairs have been busy planning mini conferences for each region the last few months. We hope that you will consider attending Trauma Sensitive Training with Alana Vest and Kara Lee at the Greenville County Museum on June 30th. The Media Arts Summer Institute is also back and we are able to be the fiscal agent for this offering through the SCDE! We want to continue to offer relevant professional learning opportunities so our board will continue to plan and organize throughout the summer between lots of family time and recuperating.

This year, as I did last, I encourage you to enjoy your summer! Enjoy time with family and friends as well as time alone to rest and recuperate. Our students need us to be at our best as we return in July/August, so do what you need to be the best version of yourself when you return. Use the summer to prepare to make a positive impact on the world around you by maintaining your passion for art education, a positive perspective, and the persistence required to be the very best at what we do for our students.

Sincerely,

Joshua Powell

ONE LOVE: Perspective, Passion, and Persistence

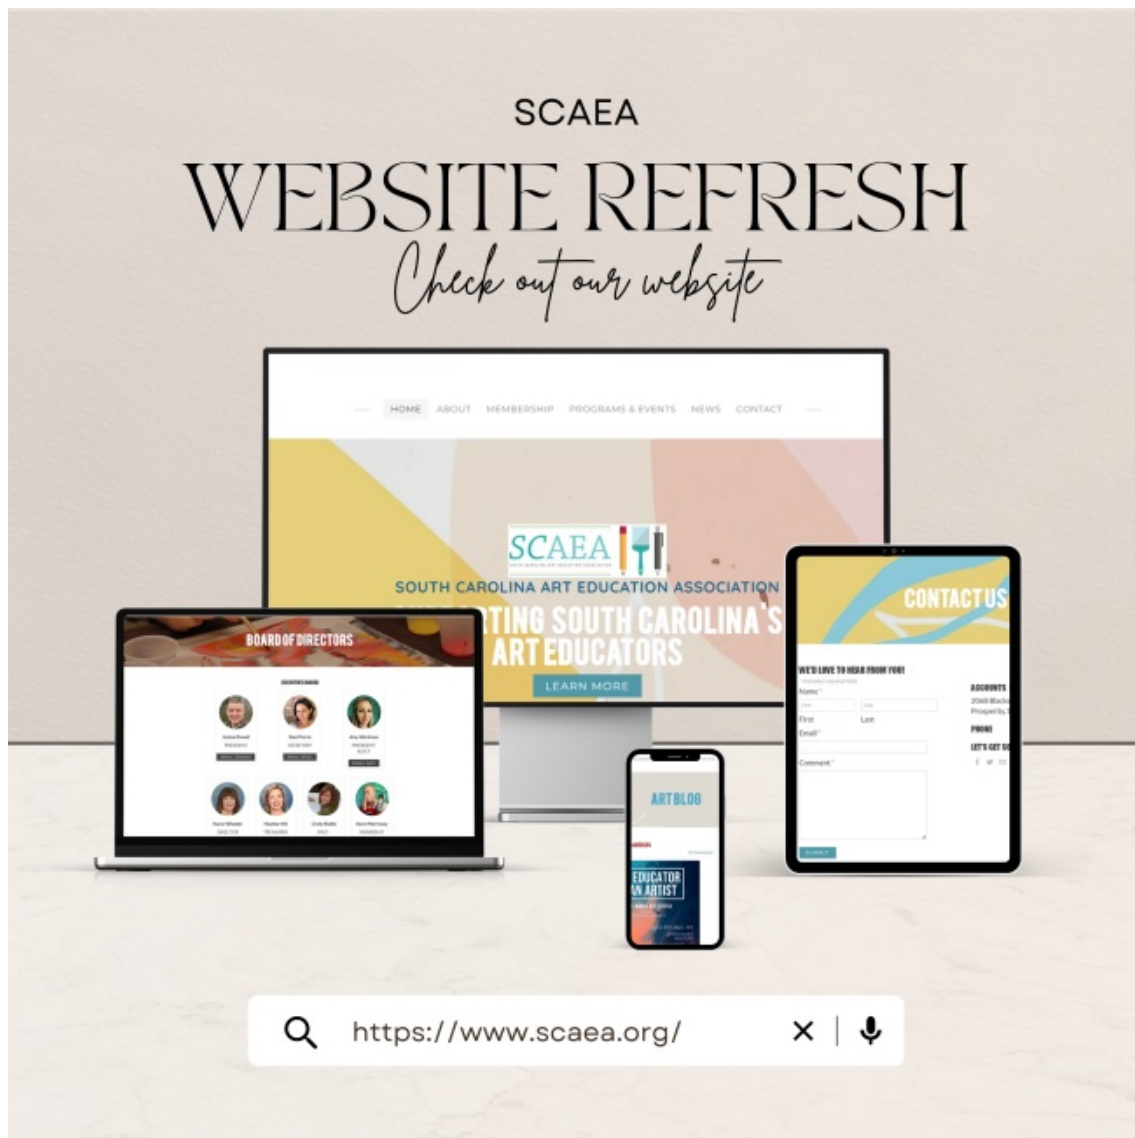

As educators, we all must ask ourselves not only "Why do we do what we do?" but also, "Who is our Why?" After all, art education impacts the lives of our students, as well as their families and communities. Infusing our two passions of visual arts and our students together creates the One Love we all share. Join the SCAEA Fall Conference as we seek to broaden our perspectives, revitalize our passion, and refocus our persistence in providing the best for our students.

Location: November 17-19, 2023, at the Hyatt Regency in downtown Greenville, SC.

Session proposals are due by September 14. If you have any questions you'd like answered before you submit a proposal, please feel free to reach out to the conference coordinator at scaea.org@gmail.com.

What's New?

Trauma Sensitive Practices in the Art room

We like to think that for students experiencing trauma, the art classroom can be a place of respite, comfort, and expression. For some, though, art activities and conversations may be triggering and cause unexpected responses. Trauma-informed teaching considers how negative life experiences might impact learning and behavior. This workshop will provide insight into what this can look like in the art classroom and consider ways to create safe relationships with students through informed practice. Participants will explore parallels between art education and art therapy through hands-on activities, and leave with trauma-informed and neuroscience-aligned resources. Trauma-sensitive

On Monday, May 29, PSAE will host the first performance of its 2023 Rising Stars Piccolo Spoleto Series. In its 15th year, the series will showcase young actors, dancers, musicians, writers and visual artists in the high-profile venue of Spoleto USA Festival through its affiliation with Piccolo Spoleto. Featuring Larry Barnfield, host and creator of the series, these amazing student performers will delight and inspire.

A series of six programs, each program will feature 6 young artists and/or ensembles in a conversation and performance format. All programs are presented at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church Parish Hall across from Marion Square on King Street in the heart of downtown Charleston. Join our audiences by purchasing a ticket to see what amazing youth SC has to showcase! Tickets can be purchased in advance by using the link on this page, or at the door. Tickets are just $10 (+fees). Get yours today!

What is a Rising Star?

In its 15th year, Rising Stars Piccolo Spoleto provides artistically talented youth of the US Southeast (SC, NC, GA, TN, AL, MS, and FL) with a high profile performance venue that recognizes their exceptional artistic talent. The 2023 Performance Series will feature students with the following talents!

- visual artists
- improv performers
- dancers
- musicians
